DAILY ROUTINE CLEANING

From office cleaning and industry-specific applications in industry, hotels and the catering sector through to nursing and care facilities: the regular cleaning of flooring, sanitary facilities, surfaces and technical equipment is a significant commercial factor and an important issue in business and in public and private spaces. After all, only perfectly executed general cleaning that protects both materials and the environment will help to preserve both value and functionality.

But how can this be done day in, day out as quickly as possible but still to an excellent standard? In response to this question, Buzil has put together a compact basic range to meet everyday requirements. This allows all areas of general cleaning to a professional standard with just six products.

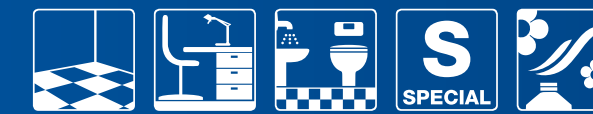

The Buzil colour coding system shown below illustrates the appropriate areas of application, making the process of selecting the correct product especially efficient and safe. Thanks to distinctive colour codes on container labels and bottle caps as well as a large number of dyed cleaning agents, mix-ups are virtually impossible. An additional colour code indicates the specific cleaning performance: all products for general cleaning are marked with an orange stripe.

From individual initial consultations, the right product selection and the optimisation of your cleaning processes through to our 24-hour hotline – Buzil offers a wealth of additional services to ensure that you can always enjoy brilliant results.
